

BRUCE LIONEL SIDDONS was the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Siddons of Oundle, where he was born on April 3, 1886.

He entered the school as a day boy in September 1898 and left in July 1902.

At the time when war broke out Siddons was in Australia, and he came over with the second detachment of the Australian Imperial Forces, having enlisted in the infantry. Unwilling to leave the men with whom he had come from Australia, he would not accept a commission, but was promoted sergeant after a course of instruction in England.

He was killed in the attack on Peronne on September 1, 1918.

His commanding officer said that it was a fight which covered their brigade with glory and that Siddons could ill be spared as he was one of their best N.C.O's.
