

"That every Scholar at his first admission into the "School shall pay six pence to the Usher, which money he
"shall have to the intent he shall keep a Register Book
"therein to write the names and surnames of the Scholars
"at their entering, and that he make a just account to
"the Wardens of the Grocers of all such Scholars as shall
"have come thither, the time of their departing, whither
"they went away, and whether they went to the
"Universities or no."

Extract from the Statutes of the School.